

Mali Cause and Effect

Read each cause (blue boxes) and each effect (yellow boxes.) Use the ARROW tool to match the correct cause to the correct effect. Use research notes, books, internet sites and stories that you have read to help if you get stumped.

Write three of your own causes and effects in the blank boxes at the bottom of the page. Make sure they are correctly matched up.

Print your page when you are finished.

Cause

Because gold was so plentiful,

The Mali people did not have money

Because Sundiata could not walk or talk until he was 7 years old

Because he gave away so much gold on his journey,

Effect

Mansa Musa became famous for his wealth and generosity.

People made fun of him and didn't think he could be a good ruler.

So they bartered gold for salt.

Mali was a very rich country.
